TOGETHER WE'RE BETTER INCLUSIVE EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

The Arc Maryland, Maryland State Department of Education, Maryland Department of Disabilities, and the Maryland Developmental Disabilities Council have partnered on our statewide "Together We're Better" (TWB) inclusive education campaign since 2004.

The TWB campaign exists to raise awareness and increase acceptance of everyone, highlighting the value and importance of meaningful inclusion for students with disabilities. The primary components of the program are:

Toolkit and Disability Experience Booklists

- Contains activity ideas, sample lesson plans for teachers, videos, books, and other resources to promote inclusion and full participation for all students.

Disability Awareness & Acceptance Presentations

- An interactive celebration of individual differences and commonalities, offered to schools across the State of Maryland!

Elementary and Middle School Artwork Contest

- Students create pieces of unique artwork based on the annual theme of National Inclusive Schools Week, the 2025-2026 theme is "CHILDREN FIRST – Building a Stronger Tomorrow."

High School Drawing Contest

- Students submit original drawings that show how inclusion benefits us all. These drawings are used as pages in this coloring book for younger children to enjoy!

Public Displays of Artwork Throughout Maryland

- Artwork is showcased at State Government buildings, County libraries, public venues, local parks and recreation centers, and on social media.

Together, we can create a more inclusive world for everyone, where people with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (IDD) are fully included in all aspects of life and have equal access to opportunities to succeed!

WHO CAN USE THE TOOLKIT?

ABOUT THE TOOLKIT

Content in this toolkit is aligned with Social and Emotional Learning (SEL) competencies and Maryland Health Education Standards. Enhance student learning in your classroom by using these resources!

Social and emotional learning (SEL) is an integral part of education and human development. SEL is the process through which all young people and adults acquire and apply the knowledge, skills, and attitudes to develop healthy identities, manage emotions and achieve personal and collective goals, feel and show empathy for others, establish and maintain supportive relationships, and make responsible and caring decisions.

“Students today are more anxious, less connected, and more likely to have experienced trauma—a threat to their safety, agency, dignity, and belonging—than they were two years ago. And these experiences have been most profound for students marginalized by race, ethnicity, and ability.”
Education Weekly, 2021

The CASEL 5 addresses five broad and interrelated areas of competence and highlights examples for each: self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationship skills, and responsible decision-making. The CASEL 5 can be taught and applied at various developmental stages from childhood to adulthood and across cultural contexts. Many school districts, states, and countries have used the CASEL 5 to establish preschool to high school learning standards and competencies that articulate what students should know and be able to do for academic success, school and civic engagement, health and wellness, and fulfilling careers.

The Inclusive Schools Network (ISN) hosts the Annual Inclusive Schools Week during the first week of December, this year we will celebrate December 8 - 12, 2025. ISN's mission is "to encourage, embolden and empower people to design and implement effective inclusive schools, by sharing insights and best practices and by providing opportunities for connection."

<https://inclusiveschools.org/>

The ISN provides year-round opportunities for families and educators around the world to network and build their knowledge of inclusive education. The Inclusive Schools Network is guided by the following three principles:

- Relationships – To be "inclusive" implies a fundamental commitment to relationships across student peers, colleagues in education and the community, parents, siblings, and the larger family unit and across the global community.
- Resources - Extensive bank of resources to be easily accessed through the website; and will identify areas in which new ideas and solutions are required – and in which new strategies, tools, sites to visit, and other resources will support the advance of inclusive education to a new level.
- Research - Inclusive education practices are fully grounded in concepts of equity and civil rights yet research tied to academic achievement, post-school success, and improved outcomes for all students is not available in the quantity and quality needed to facilitate widespread acceptance and buy-in for many stakeholders.

But don't limit your inclusive practices to just one week, check out the rest of the toolkit to see how you can make meaningful inclusion an everyday practice!

WHAT DOES INCLUSIVE EDUCATION REALLY MEAN?

INCLUSIVE EDUCATION MEANS we no longer accept that separate classrooms, separate schools, and separate lives are in the best interest of any student. Separating people by ability disadvantages everyone. Belonging is a human need. Our educational system, practices, and spaces, need to be reimaged.

INCLUSIVE EDUCATION MEANS every student is valued because of their strengths, gifts, and even challenges. As disability is simply... diversity. Everyone benefits from meaningful participation and opportunities to learn grade level content with diverse peers. We must trust that all students come to us as incredible whole people who do not need to be fixed.

IT IS POSSIBLE TO CREATE INCLUSIVE SCHOOLS WHERE ALL STUDENTS FLOURISH!

TO ACHIEVE INCLUSIVE EDUCATION WE MUST:

- 1. REDESIGN SYSTEMS AND STRUCTURES that center and value our human diversity, foster strong relationships, and create a true sense of belonging between and among us
- 2. PRIORITIZE HIRING diverse and inclusive-minded leaders, creative and compassionate educators, and skillful paraprofessionals
- 3. ELIMINATE BARRIERS to students' access, participation, and learning by abandoning inequitable practices, policies, and procedures
- 4. CREATE WELCOMING SPACES where students' multiple identities are seen and celebrated
- 5. CO-TEACH AND COLLABORATE EFFECTIVELY by sharing instructional roles, designing authentic lessons, and generating joy filled learning experiences
- 6. PARTNER WITH FAMILIES to incorporate their dreams for their children
- 7. DIFFERENTIATE TO CREATE ACCESS POINTS that allow students to engage in meaningful experiences, share their thoughts and ideas, and demonstrate their competence
- 8. PROVIDE ADDITIONAL SUPPORT and enrichment for ALL - continuously and seamlessly - when and where students need it
- 9. UTILIZE CHALLENGING BEHAVIORS as an opportunity to create warm and safe relationships, reduce stressors, soothe systems, and nurture students' well-being

BELIEVE IT IS POSSIBLE, TAKE ACTION, AND WATCH STUDENTS THRIVE!

FOR EDUCATORS

CREATING COMMUNITIES OF BELONGING

Your Students, My Students, Our Students: Rethinking Equitable and Inclusive Classrooms

This book addresses the challenges, maps out the solutions, and provides tools and inspiration for the work ahead. Real-life examples of empowerment and success illustrate just what's possible when educators commit to the belief that every student belongs and all students deserve learning experiences that will equip them to live full and rewarding lives.

Leading for All

A practical guide that provides a clear pathway for educators to develop a more inclusive school community from start to finish. The authors share lessons learned from years building district schools where all students are served in their neighborhood school and in classrooms with their general education peers.

Features include:

- Three focus areas to guide change: Creating Inclusive Cultures, Improving Instructional Practices, and Increasing Student Voice
- 7 Components of Inclusive and Equitable Learning Communities
- Supporting resources for promoting inclusion throughout the school day, including co-curricular activities and transportation
- Stories of real students and teachers and the actions that impacted their success

Ableism in Education: Rethinking School Practices and Policies

Special education and academic streaming (or tracking) are two of the most prominent ability-based strategies public schools use to organize student learning. Both have had a long and complicated relationship with gender, race, and class. In this down-to-earth guide, Dr. Gillian Parekh unpacks the realities of how ability and disability play out within schooling, including insights from students, teachers, and administrators about the barriers faced by students on the basis of ability. From the challenges with ability testing to gifted programs to the disability rights movement, Parekh shows how ableism is inextricably linked to other forms of bias. Her book is a powerful tool for educators committed to justice-seeking practices in schools

One Without The Other

Shelley Moore explores the changing landscape of inclusive education. Presented through real stories from her own classroom experience, this passionate and creative educator tackles such things as inclusion as a philosophy and practice, the difference between integration and inclusion, and how inclusion can work with a variety of students and abilities. Explorations of differentiation, the role of special education teachers and others, and universal design for learning all illustrate the evolving discussion on special education and teaching to all learners. This book will be of interest to all educators, from special ed teachers, educational assistants and resource teachers, to classroom teachers, administrators, and superintendents.

TEACHING CHILDREN ABOUT DISABILITIES

Lesson Plans/Activities & Classroom Resources

The HIE Help Center

Provides different lesson plans about autism, communication disorders, general disability, hearing and vision impairments, learning disabilities, and physical disabilities. As classrooms become more inclusive, it is important for every child to be welcomed and treated with respect. The goal of this resource center is to provide teachers with lesson plan ideas that will help students better understand what it's like to live with different disabilities.

In learning about different kinds of disabilities, students will gain further understanding of what it is like to live with a disability. Each lesson plan provides: an introduction, a list of materials, instructions, a "spotlight" (a notable individual with the particular disability), and a list of sources. Some of these hands-on activities will even give students a chance to somewhat experience what it is like to have a disability. Check out these activities!

Special Education Citizens Advisory Council (SECAC)

One of the best indicators of student success is parental engagement. SECAC's mission is to review systemic issues and trends that can be addressed through policies, programs and services that have the potential to impact many students with disabilities.

IDEA and the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE), Division of Early Intervention and Special Education Services (DEI/SES) support strengthening the role of parents by ensuring that parents and families of students with disabilities have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home. Meaningful participation on SECAC's benefits ALL students and school communities.

The purpose of SECAC is to seek meaningful input on issues related to the provision of a Free Appropriate Public Education (FAPE). SECAC's actively collect parent input and concerns from many sources such as letters, comments, surveys, etc. Input from these sources should be considered in advising the district on the facilitation of positive changes. Additionally, each jurisdiction shall develop specific procedures, reports, or practices for which a local director may wish to solicit input from parents, administrators, and teachers.

Maryland has a network of 24 Patty Centers (formerly named Family Support Centers) in 14 counties that offer free, educational and health-related services to parents and their children ages birth through three.

The Parents' Place of Maryland (PPMD) began in 1990 as a grass-roots effort of families, professionals, and community leaders determined to provide resources, support, and information to parents of children with disabilities and special health care needs. Our philosophy of "families helping families" reflects our commitment to supporting families of backgrounds.

Today, the Parents' Place offers a variety of programs and services that continue to support families of children with disabilities and special health care needs. Serving as Maryland's Parent Training and Information Center and Family-to-Family Health Information Center, Parents' Place supports thousands of Maryland families each year.

Parents' Place, staffed primarily by parents who have faced these challenges, believes that experienced parents are a key source of knowledge and support to help other families become effective voices for their own children. <https://www.ppmd.org/>

EVERYONE CAN PLAY!

Playgrounds for All!

Maryland's Developmental Disabilities Council has created an online resource and toolkit, offering information and resources on how to create inclusive playgrounds or to improve existing playgrounds to be more inclusive. Inclusive playgrounds benefit everyone. They create spaces for everyone to play, connect with each other, and build stronger communities.

Inclusive playgrounds are designed to meet the needs of different people, including people with disabilities who may play in different ways. They encourage people to come together to play, learn, and make people feel good when they are there. When playgrounds don't exclude anyone, they can benefit everyone!
